

FLEXSHIP

GREATER CONTROL AND CONVENIENCE FOR SMALLER SHIPPERS.

Our new Flexship™ label-printing system streamlines postal-based parcel shipping for small to mid-size shippers.

Still printing shipping labels one at a time? Seeking a more efficient solution but can't justify the expense of an enterprise label-printing platform? If you're a small to mid-size shipper, there's finally a system designed specifically for businesses like yours.

Introducing Flexship, a free label-printing platform exclusively for Newgistics clients. This easy-to-use software tool not only accelerates your production of delivery and return labels. It makes your shipping more efficient by reducing paperwork and processing. Flexship also empowers you to take full advantage of our Transit Triggers™ shipment notification service, helping you improve customer satisfaction and processes across your organization.

Flexship supports Newgistics' full suite of residential delivery and returns management solutions. That means you can produce labels for a range of U.S. Postal Service® products (Bound Printed Matter, Parcel Select®, Standard Mail® and Media Mail®), as well as our industry-leading Newgistics SmartLabel® for returns. INCREASE EFFICIENCY AND CUSTOMER RETENTION

Flexship connects seamlessly with OneShip™, our warehouse control system. As a result, you can electronically transfer manifest data to our SmartCenter™ processing facilities. This feature and our 100% eVS compliance reduce your paperwork requirements and prevent manifesting errors that can delay shipments.

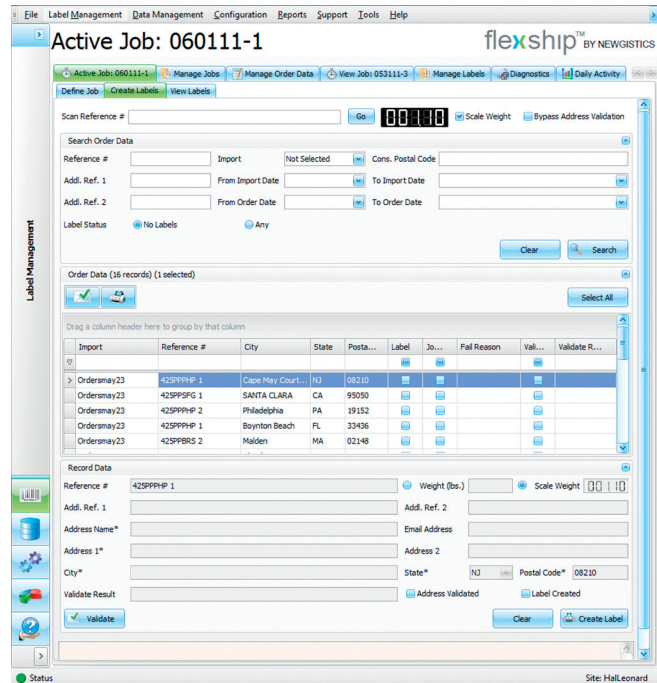

Flexship also enables you to print labels that integrate tracking and order information into one barcode—the technology behind our Transit Triggers service. With Transit Triggers notifications, parcel movements can trigger personalized customer emails that strengthen your relationships, and internal actions that improve your efficiency across departments.

ENORMOUS CONVENIENCE AT NO COST

Best of all, Flexship requires no additional investment on your part. The base software application is free, and the system works with most existing infrastructures. With Flexship, small to mid-size shippers can finally gain the control and convenience of an enterprise label-printing platform—without the cost or complexity of systems designed for larger companies.

The “Order Import” feature allows you to easily navigate from your native order system to Flexship for label creation, processing and tracking.

After order data is imported, Flexship offers you three ways to create labels: by selecting them from order records; from barcode scans, which the system automatically matches to order import records; or by entering data manually. You can also validate addresses on this screen.

“Newgistics’ investment in technology is a key driver in our strategy of delivering value, visibility throughout the small parcel delivery and returns processes, and improved service for our clients and their customers. Through the introduction of Flexship, medium-sized enterprises requiring a feature-rich shipping platform have a new option, without the enterprise price tag or support requirements.”
